k. Description of Request: Pursuant to Article 402 of the project license, Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) is required to request a temporary amendment of flows from FERC if the departure from flows lasts for more than two weeks. PG&E is planning to repair a damaged 60-inch low level outlet (LLO) gate at the Balch Project's (FERC No. 175)) Balch Afterbay Dam, which has been stuck in the partially open position since early January 2011. In order to make the repairs, PG&E will need to depart from the minimum instream flows at the Dinkey Creek Siphon and at the Confluence of Dinkey Creek and the North Fork Kings River. During the repairs, PG&E will need to draw down the forebay and drain the Kings River Tunnel in a controlled manner. It is estimated that the period of no release from Dinkey Creek Siphon could last approximately 4 weeks. In addition to the absence of a release from Dinkey Creek Siphon, the flow requirement below the Balch Afterbay Dam will be met by diverting flows through a bypass system that will be constructed to allow the movement of water around the construction area. It is estimated that the minimum flow requirement of 15 cubic feet per second (cfs) will be met, and PG&E will attempt to release an additional 5–10 cfs from the bypass into the Kings River.

l. A copy of the application is available for review at the Commission in the Public Reference Room or may be viewed on the Commission's Web site at <http://www.ferc.gov> using the "eLibrary" link.
