

the FPGA service would be able to do so on June 1, 2023. The Exchange argues that an operative date of June 1, 2023 is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest because market data services are typically initiated at the beginning of a calendar month, and the June 1 operative date would allow any interested customer to utilize the service for the entire month, while still allowing any interested party almost a month to review the proposal.¹³ The Exchange also argues that the benefits of the full month of operation outweigh any costs associated with a slightly shorter operative delay, given that FPGA is a well-established technology that is familiar to market participants. The Commission believes that waiver of the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. Accordingly, the Commission hereby waives the operative delay and designates the proposed rule change as operative upon filing.¹⁴

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be approved or disapproved.
