

2008 through September 8, 2008. The software error affected only a few federal agencies, one of which was the FDIC. The FDIC has been assured that the software problem has been corrected and that safeguards are now in place to ensure this error will not occur for future rulemakings.¹

Specifically, because of the software problem, the FDIC has been notified that a total of two public comments relevant to FDIC rulemakings were filed using the Federal eRulemaking Portal at <http://www.regulations.gov>, but were not submitted to the FDIC.² The FDIC was advised that one of the missing comments was filed on April 14, 2008. This comment related to the FDIC's Notice of Proposed Rulemaking involving "Processing of Deposit Accounts in the Event of an Insured Depository Institution Failure and Large-Bank Deposit Insurance Determination Modernization."³ The Federal eRulemaking Portal at <http://www.regulations.gov> has been unable to retrieve this comment or identify the commenter.

The FDIC considered all public comments relating to the proposed rule and posted the comments for public review on its Web site at <http://www.fdic.gov/regulations/laws/federal/>. In large measure, the proposed rule has been finalized. To ensure fairness in its rulemaking process, however, the FDIC invites the commenter to resubmit his or her comment if they (1) Commented about either of this proposed rule on the date indicated, (2) used the Federal eRulemaking Portal to file their original comments, and (3) do not believe that their comment was received by the FDIC. If a commenter is unsure whether his or her comment was received by the FDIC, the commenter may verify receipt of the comment by checking the FDIC's Web site for the comment at <http://www.fdic.gov/regulations/laws/federal/> or by contacting the FDIC's Public Information Center using the contact information indicated above.
