

prepare and submit. Thus, for the line item Innovation Pilot Program—Application, FDIC estimates a time burden of 20 hours per response.

2. Proposal Phase: During a pilot program, all contractors who are participating will provide an initial summary of the terms and conditions (including price, deliverables, intellectual property rights, and so forth) it contemplates proposing for a follow-on pilot. The FDIC may provide feedback to the contractor and contractors may resubmit their proposal one or more times based on feedback received. Based on their experience with rapid Phase Prototyping (RPP), FDIC estimates that approximately 60 percent of applications received in response to calls for concept papers, or 90 applications per year,² will be invited to submit contract proposal. As above, the FDIC assumes each response to be from a distinct respondent. Thus, for the line item Innovation Pilot Program—Proposal, FDIC estimates 90 respondents per year and one response per respondent per year. FDIC believes that, given the iterative nature of the RPP process, it is likely that contractors will go through multiple iterations of contract proposals. FDIC assumes that each respondent will have to revise their submission twice, on average. In addition, these contract proposals include pricing, terms, and conditions, which will require more time than the concept papers. Given these differences, FDIC estimates that each response to an Innovation Pilot Program—Proposal will take 60 hours to prepare and submit.

Under California law, a majority winner in a special election is declared elected. Should no candidate achieve a majority vote, a Special Runoff Election will be held on June 7, 2022, between the top two vote-getters. Political committees participating in the California special elections are required to file pre- and post-election reports. Filing deadlines for these reports are affected by whether one or two elections are held.

As soon as the adjusted threshold amount is available, the Commission will publish it in the Federal Register and post it on its website. 11 CFR 104.22(g) and 110.17(e)(2).
