SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Federal Energy Administration Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93–275, 15 U.S.C. 761 et seq.) and the DOE Organization Act (Pub. L. 95–91, 42 U.S.C. 7101 et seq.) require the EIA to carry out a centralized, comprehensive, and unified energy information program. This program collects, evaluates, assembles, analyzes, and disseminates information on energy resource reserves, production, demand, technology, and related economic and statistical information. This information is used to assess the adequacy of energy resources to meet near and longer-term domestic demands.

The EIA provides the public and other Federal agencies with opportunities to comment on collections of energy information conducted by EIA. As appropriate, EIA also requests comments on important issues relevant to the dissemination of energy information. Comments received help the EIA when preparing information collections and information products necessary to support EIA's mission.

On February 17, 2004, EIA issued two Federal Register notices. The first notice (69 FR 7459) requested public comments on EIA's disclosure limitation policy for statistical information based on alternative fueled vehicles and alternative transportation fuels survey data collected on Form EIA–886. The second notice (69 FR 7460) requested comments on EIA's disclosure limitation policy for renewable fuels survey data collected on Forms EIA–63A, EIA–63B, and EIA–902. In the notices, EIA discussed the proposed policies as well as EIA's reasons for proposing it.

When used, disclosure limitation methods are designed to minimize the possibility that individually-identifiable information reported by a survey respondent may be inferred from published statistics. The use of disclosure limitation methods would result in numerous renewable fuels, alternative fueled vehicles, and alternative transportation fuels statistics being suppressed from public dissemination and unavailable to public and private analysts. However, by not using disclosure limitation methods, a published statistic based on survey data from fewer than three respondents or dominated by data from one or two large respondents may be used by a knowledgeable person to estimate the data reported by a specific respondent.

While the specific forms and data elements in the renewable fuels, alternative fueled vehicles, and alternative transportation fuels surveys are expected to change over time to reflect the industry, the disclosure limitation policy will apply to all survey information collected under a pledge of confidentiality for Forms EIA–63A, EIA–63B, EIA–886, and EIA–902. The overall purpose of these surveys is to provide credible, reliable, and timely information.

II. Discussion of Comments

EIA received no comments in response to the requests for public comments.

III. Current Actions

The EIA is announcing its disclosure limitation policy for statistical information based on survey data collected on Forms EIA–63A (“Annual Solar Thermal Collector Manufacturers Survey”), EIA–63B (“Annual Photovoltaic Module/Cell Manufacturers Survey”), EIA–886, (“Annual Survey of Alternative Fueled Vehicle Suppliers and Users”), and EIA–902 (“Annual Geothermal Heat Pump Manufacturers Survey”).

For renewable fuels survey data collected on Forms EIA–63A, EIA–63B, and EIA–902, EIA's policy is to only apply disclosure limitation methods to statistics based on financial data reported on those forms. For statistics based on nonfinancial data reported on the forms, EIA will not apply disclosure limitation methods.

For alternative fueled vehicles and alternative transportation fuels data collected on Form EIA–886, EIA's policy is to only apply disclosure limitation methods to statistics based on projected data reported on Form EIA–886. For statistics based on historical data reported on Form EIA–886, EIA will not apply disclosure limitation methods.

EIA will continue to protect information collected under a pledge of confidentiality by not publicly releasing respondent-level survey data directly linked to names or other identifiers of the survey respondents. The policy is based on EIA's mandate for carrying out a central, comprehensive, and unified energy data and information program responsive to users' needs for credible, reliable, and timely energy information that will improve and broaden understanding of energy in the United States.

[Docket No. CP04–103–000]

Dominion Transmission, Inc.; Notice of Application

April 12, 2004.

On April 7, 2004, Dominion Transmission, Inc. (DTI), 120 Tredegar Street, Richmond, Virginia 23219, filed an application in the above referenced docket, pursuant to section 7(b) of the Natural Gas Act (NGA), and part 157 of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (Commission) Rules and Regulations to abandon Well 9037 at its Bridgeport Storage Complex in Harrison County, West Virginia. This filing is available for review at the Commission in the Public Reference Room or may be viewed on the Commission's Web site at <http://www.ferc.gov> using the “e-Library” link. Enter the docket number excluding the last three digits in the docket number field to access the document. For assistance, contact FERC at FERCOnlineSupport@ferc.gov or call toll-free, (866) 208–3676, or for TTY, (202) 502–8659.

Any questions regarding this application should be directed to Anne E. Bomar, Managing Director, Transmission Rates and Regulation, Dominion Transmission, Inc., 120 Tredegar Street, Richmond, Virginia 23219, telephone (804) 819–2134.

There are two ways to become involved in the Commission's review of this project. First, any person wishing to obtain legal status by becoming a party to the proceedings for this project should, on or before the comment date stated below file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 888 First Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, a motion to intervene in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 385.214 or 385.211) and the regulations under the NGA (18 CFR 157.10). A person obtaining party status will be placed on the service list maintained by the Secretary of the Commission and will receive copies of all documents filed by the applicant and by all other parties. A party must submit 14 copies of filings made in the proceeding with the Commission and must mail a copy to the applicant and to every other party. Only parties to the proceeding can ask for court review of Commission orders in the proceeding.

However, a person does not have to intervene in order to have comments considered. The second way to participate is by filing with the Secretary of the Commission, as soon as possible, an original and two copies of comments in support of or in opposition to this project. The Commission will consider these comments in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but the filing of a comment alone will not serve to make the filer a party to the proceeding. The Commission's rules require that persons filing comments in opposition to the project provide copies of their protests only to the party or parties directly involved in the protest.

Persons who wish to comment only on the environmental review of this project should submit an original and two copies of their comments to the Secretary of the Commission. Environmental commenters will be placed on the Commission's environmental mailing list, will receive copies of the environmental documents, and will be notified of meetings associated with the Commission's environmental review process. Environmental commenters will not be required to serve copies of filed documents on all other parties. However, the non-party commenters will not receive copies of all documents filed by other parties or issued by the Commission (except for the mailing of environmental documents issued by the Commission) and will not have the right to seek court review of the Commission's final order.

Protests and interventions may be filed electronically via the Internet in lieu of paper; see 18 CFR 385.2001(a)(1)(iii) and the instructions on the Commission's Web site under the "e-Filing" link. The Commission strongly encourages electronic filings.

Comment Date: April 28, 2004.

Magalie R. Salas,
Secretary.
