SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Single Family Neighborhood Watch Early Warning System was evaluated and identified for rescindment from the Single Family Housing, Office of Lender Activities and Program Compliance Privacy Act systems of records inventory. The Single Family Neighborhood Watch Early Warning System (Neighborhood Watch) is used to monitor default and claim rates on FHA insured loans originated, underwritten and serviced by FHA that is reported to FHA by its mortgage servicers. The system provides a critical component for FHA's risk management strategy by allowing for in depth analysis to be performed on lending institution performance based on trends in the number of defaults and claims over time, among geographic areas, and across product types. Neighborhood Watch also allows for analysis to be carried out on the nature of the delinquencies that are reported to FHA by its servicers, the period of the mortgage lifecycle in which those delinquencies took place and the success rate of loss mitigation actions in bringing mortgagors current on their loans. Both of these capabilities better position FHA to manage current and future risk to its insurance funds by providing the means for evaluating the causes for delinquencies. This information assists lenders improve their origination, underwriting, and servicing practices, and helps prevent unnecessary foreclosures and insurance claims. The SORN retrieval practice was evaluated, and it was determined that records within the system are not retrieved by an individual's personal unique identifier that qualifies for as SORN under the Privacy Act. The Department's FHA Case Number and other retrieval practices mentioned in the existing SORN does not constitute a retrieval for purpose of the Privacy Act. Records that are used for reviewing the default and claim rates of mortgages originated, underwritten, and serviced by FHA-approved lending institutions will continue to be maintained by SFNW.
