SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Background

The draft NOAA Aquaculture Policy provides guidance for NOAA's actions regarding the development of all forms of marine aquaculture, from shellfish farming and habitat restoration to the culture of marine fish and algae on land and offshore. The policy provides a national approach for supporting sustainable commercial production, expanding restoration aquaculture, and researching and developing new technologies, and is part of NOAA's national approach to sustainable seafood, which encompasses both aquaculture and capture fisheries. The draft policy features:

- A reaffirmation of the importance of aquaculture.
- An overarching policy statement to guide agency actions.
- A set of updated agency priorities to implement the policy through initiatives in four areas:
 - Science and research
 - Regulation
 - Innovation, partnerships and outreach and

- International cooperation
- Detailed principles for aquaculture in federal waters.

The draft policy responds to public input submitted to NOAA at the listening sessions held in 2010, by emphasizing the protection of wild species, acknowledging the importance of sound science, and taking other suggestions into account. It also affirms that sustainable U.S. marine aquaculture is vital to the U.S. seafood supply, the economic vitality of coastal communities, and the maintenance of working waterfronts.
