

document that is updated periodically with engagement of the broad waterfowl conservation community. This important work is under way again, with a target date of mid-2012 for completion.

The Plan Committee formed the NAWMP Revision Steering Committee (RSC) to serve as a focal point for gathering, vetting, and synthesizing ideas from the waterfowl management community and to advise the Plan Committee on the content of the Plan Revision.

At its August 2009 meeting, the Plan Committee agreed to engage stakeholders in generating initial fundamental goals for the Plan Revision using a facilitated process to ensure consistency in approach.

Plan Revision Development

To achieve broad consensus, the Plan Committee used an iterative, highly transparent, and well documented process that included waterfowl conservation stakeholders.

The process began with two rounds of workshops in Canada and the United States aimed at eliciting goals and objectives for waterfowl management and identifying broad-scale alternative strategies for achieving objectives.

During 6 Round One workshops, participants identified 3 fundamental objectives for waterfowl management from a list of 31 candidate objectives. During Round Two, participants clarified the meaning of the fundamental objectives identified in Round One.

A total of 266 people participated in 13 Round One and Round Two workshops in the United States and Canada. Several people submitted input via the <http://www.nawmprevision.org> website. The RSC synthesized Round One and Round Two workshop results and website feedback, and a writing team prepared the draft Plan Revision document.
