

IV. Consideration of Extraordinary Circumstances (if Applicable)

In assessing whether a categorical exclusion applies, EXIM would review whether there were extraordinary circumstances that would indicate a categorical exclusion is not appropriate due to the potential for a significant environmental effect. EXIM would review that proposed actions do not breach the extraordinary circumstances listed by TVA. When applying these CEs, EXIM will consider whether the proposed action has the potential to result in significant effects as described in TVA's definition of extraordinary circumstances, as written above.

EXIM's Engineering and Environment Division will have responsibility for determining if a categorical exclusion applies. These determinations will be posted at <https://www.exim.gov/policies/exim-bank-and-environment/make-more-america-initiative-approved-transactions>.

Consultation and Determination of Appropriateness

Consultations

1. Tennessee Valley Authority Consultation

In May 2025, EXIM conducted consultation with the Tennessee Valley Authority on adoption of two CE categories. EXIM and TVA's consultation included a review of TVA's experience developing and applying the CEs, as well as the types of actions for which EXIM plans to utilize the CEs. These EXIM actions are similar to the type of projects that TVA funds and therefore the impacts of EXIM projects will be similar to the impacts of TVA projects, which are not significant, absent the existence of extraordinary circumstances that could involve potentially significant impacts. Therefore, EXIM has determined that its proposed use of the CEs as described in this notice would be appropriate.

Notice to the Public and Documentation of the Adoption

This notice serves to identify to the public and document EXIM's adoption of two CEs from the Tennessee Valley Authority. The notice identifies the types of actions to which EXIM will apply the CE, as well as the considerations that EXIM will use in determining whether an action is within the scope of the CE.

Vice President, Policy Analysis.
