SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a document entitled “Human Gene Therapy Products Incorporating Human Genome Editing; Guidance for Industry.” The guidance document provides recommendations to sponsors developing human gene therapy products incorporating GE of human somatic cells. Specifically, the guidance provides recommendations regarding information that should be provided in an IND application to assess the safety and quality of the investigational GE product, including information on product design, product manufacturing and testing, nonclinical safety assessment, and clinical trial design.

In the Federal Register of March 16, 2022 (87 FR 14897), FDA announced the availability of the draft guidance of the same title dated March 2022. FDA received numerous comments on the draft guidance and those comments were considered as the guidance was finalized. Changes to the guidance include clarifying the recommendations for GE components used only once (for example, in the manufacture of a master cell bank), expectations for potency assays, considerations for nonclinical studies with respect to potential for off-target toxicity, and applicability of accelerated approval to GE products. In addition, editorial changes were made to improve clarity. The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance dated March 2022.

Elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register, FDA is announcing the availability of another human gene therapy final guidance document entitled “Considerations for the Development of Chimeric Antigen Receptor (CAR) T Cell Products; Guidance for Industry.”

This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on “Human Gene Therapy Products Incorporating Human Genome Editing.” It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

While this guidance contains no collection of information, it does refer to previously approved FDA collections of information. The previously approved collections of information are subject to review by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3521). The collections of information in 21 CFR part 312 have been approved under OMB control number 0910–0014; the collections of information in 21 CFR parts 210 and 211 have been approved under OMB control number 0910–0073; the collections of information in 21 CFR part 1271 have been approved under OMB control number 0910–0543.
