

carry payload, which is one of the primary functions of the majority of construction machines. Lastly, construction machines must operate in a variety of conditions and operate often on steep slopes. Equipment with 1:1 DEF tanks of the correct design creates a lower risk of losing DEF fluid suction pickup when operating on extreme tilt as compared to larger tanks.

In order to fulfill the obligation to demonstrate that the maintenance will be done at the recommended interval on in-use engines, requestors noted that manufacturers will deploy warnings and inducements should the DEF level become too low. In addition to these initial inducements, should the operator ignore them, then the requestors noted that manufacturers will employ "severe inducement" intended to disable the functionality of the engine or equipment.⁷

Furthermore, EPA notes that several current SCR systems include the final inducement of either having the engine shut down or idle only (with no power) when no DEF is present in the DEF tank (or the system is no longer able to dose with DEF), and such SCR systems meet EPA's expectations of what is required for nonroad SCR systems.⁸ As an example, one manufacturer noted that "To provide the necessary assurance that the DEF tank will be refilled, each vehicle will be equipped with a constant viewable DEF level indicator included in the vehicle dashboard display. * * * the operator display system includes a visible warning signal that indicates when the level of DEF in the tank is low and will need refilling. As a final inducement, the system also includes programmed engine derates that limit engine performance once the DEF level drops below certain levels, thereby limiting vehicle performance." EMA, in its request, noted that should operators fail to notice audible or visible warning signals indicating low DEF, then the manufacturers may also use a reduction in engine power or equipment utility to provide more dramatic notice that the DEF tank needs refilling. This "severe inducement" is intended to disable the functionality of the engine or equipment, and to substantially limit the likelihood that the engine or equipment could perform any useful work, but is not intended to prohibit the engine or equipment's mobility or ability to idle. EMA also notes that it expects EPA to provide guidance on an appropriate final inducement once the SCR system runs out of DEF.

III. Discussion

EPA believes that SCR systems are a new technology and are properly considered a critical emission-related component since their primary purpose is to control emissions. In addition, the replenishment of DEF as part of maintaining the SCR system's functionality is considered to be critical emission-related maintenance under 1039.125(a).

EPA believes it appropriate to evaluate the DEF refill rates by taking into consideration the space and weight constraints typically involved with the range of NRCI engines using SCR systems, including safety and impacts of weight and dosing rates on greenhouse gas emissions and fuel efficiency. EPA believes it must also take into consideration the likelihood that the maintenance of DEF refills will be performed by the owner or operator.⁹

In our 2009 Federal Register notice regarding heavy-duty on-highway engines and vehicles using SCR systems, we concluded that the requested intervals were appropriate because we determined that manufacturer-recommended DEF refill intervals approximated the maximum feasible maintenance intervals associated with reasonable DEF tank sizes. We also concluded that the maintenance intervals recommended ensure that the functions and operational efficiency of such vehicles are not overly compromised.¹⁰ EPA knows of no SCR technology for NRCI engines that is yet capable of attaining longer operation (generally beyond one tank full of diesel) without a DEF refill. As noted by the requests, there are significant space and weight constraints associated with increasing the DEF tank size in order to accommodate a 2:1 refill ratio. EPA believes it appropriate to take into consideration the need for locating the DEF tank in close proximity to the fuel tank and the remainder of the SCR system, as well as the increased likelihood that the DEF tank will be refilled if it becomes standard operating practice to refill the DEF tank at the same time as the fuel tank. EPA believes that such nonroad equipment is similar to centrally-fueled heavy-duty on-highway vehicles and that there is a sufficient basis and a reasonable expectation that DEF tank refills will occur on a timely basis.

EPA notes that the regulations allow any manufacturer to petition EPA under the "paragraph (a)(5) process" for a new maintenance interval for a particular engine family or application than that approved for the industry if the manufacturer can show that a certain interval is the appropriate maintenance interval for the particular engine configuration being certified.

EPA also notes that all critical emission-related maintenance must have a reasonable likelihood of being done at the recommended intervals on in-use engines. Paragraph 1039.125(a)(1) sets forth several methods by which such demonstration can be made, including data showing that if a lack of maintenance increases emissions, it also unacceptably degrades the engine's performance. In the context of SCR systems and the potential of an empty DEF tank and an inoperable SCR system, EPA notes that equipment under such operating conditions are expected to shut down or idle only. Engine manufacturers employing such final inducements meet the requirements of (a)(1) and furthermore meet the requirement under (a)(5) for DEF refill intervals based on a 1:1 ratio.

For the reasons set forth above, EPA approves a new scheduled maintenance interval for DEF refill that shall be no less than the equipment's fuel capacity (i.e., a 1:1 ratio of DEF refill to fuel refill) for 2011 and later model year nonroad engines.

IV. Procedures for Objections

Anyone may request a hearing on this determination. The request must be in writing and include a description of your objection and any supporting data. The request must be made by February 6, 2012. If, after review of any objection and supporting data, we find that the request raises a substantial factual issue, we will hold a hearing in accordance with 40 CFR Part 1068 Subpart G.

ACTION: Notice of the establishment of new systems of records and removal of existing systems of records.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974, as amended (Privacy Act), the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA) gives notice of the proposed establishment of three new Privacy Act systems of records and the removal of four existing Privacy Act systems of records.

The three proposed new systems are: "Emergency Notification System" (FHFA-14); "Payroll, Retirement, Time and Attendance, and Leave Records" (FHFA-15); and "Personnel Investigative Records" (FHFA-16). The proposed new systems will replace systems of records issued by FHFA's predecessor agencies, the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO) and the Federal Housing Finance Board (FHFB). Proposed systems (FHFA-14) and (FHFA-15) will replace OFHEO systems "OFHEO-2 Pay and Leave System" and "OFHEO-6 Emergency Contingency Plan and Personnel Locator System," and FHFB system "FHFB-1 Employee Attendance Records." Proposed system (FHFA-16) will replace FHFB system "FHFB-5 Personnel Investigative Records."

FHFA has previously published a system of records notice ("Financial Management System" (FHFA-2), 74 FR 31949 (July 6, 2009)); however, in publishing that notice, FHFA did not explicitly state that OFHEO and FHFB system of records notices were being replaced. Notice is hereby given that the systems of records notice "OFHEO-1 Financial Management System" and "FHFB-2 General Travel and Transportation Files" have been replaced by "Financial Management System" (FHFA-2). Upon the effective date of this notice, the replaced OFHEO system, "OFHEO-1" published at 63 FR 9007 (February 23, 1998) and "FHFB-2" as amended at 71 FR 61053 (October 17, 2006) will be removed.

In addition, upon the effective date of this notice, the replaced FHFB systems, "FHFB-1" published at 60 FR 46120 (September 5, 1995), as amended at 62 FR 66865 (December 22, 1997) and 71 FR 61052 (October 17, 2006), and "FHFB-5" (originally published as "FHFB-7 Agency Personnel Investigative Records" at 60 FR 46120 (September 5, 1995)), as amended at 64 FR 14920 (March 29, 1999), 68 FR 39947 (July 3, 2003), and 71 FR 61052 (October 17, 2006); and the replaced OFHEO systems, "OFHEO-2" published at 63 FR 9007 (February 23, 1998), and "OFHEO-6" published at 71 FR 6085 (February 6, 2006) will be removed.

DATES: The addition of these new systems of records will become effective February 14, 2012 without further notice unless comments necessitate otherwise. FHFA will publish a new notice if the effective date is delayed in order to review comments or if changes are made based on comments received. To be assured of consideration, comments must be received on or before February 6, 2012.

II. Introduction

This notice satisfies the Privacy Act requirement that an agency publish a system of records notice in the Federal Register when there is an addition to the agency's system of records. Congress has recognized that application of all requirements of the Privacy Act to certain categories of records may have an undesirable and often unacceptable effect upon agencies in the conduct of necessary public business. Consequently, Congress established general exemptions and specific exemptions that could be used to exempt records from provisions of the Privacy Act. Congress also required that exempting records from provisions of the Privacy Act would require the head of an agency to publish a determination to exempt a record from the Privacy Act as a rule in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act. The Director of FHFA has determined that records and information in these three new systems of records are not exempt from the requirements of the Privacy Act.

As required by the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), and pursuant to paragraph 4c of Appendix I to OMB Circular No. A-130, "Federal Agency Responsibilities for Maintaining Records About Individuals," dated February 8, 1996 (61 FR 6427, 6435 February 20, 1996), FHFA has submitted a report describing the three new systems of records covered by this notice to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs of the Senate, and the Office of Management and Budget.

III. Proposed Systems of Records

The first proposed system is "Emergency Notification System" (FHFA-14). The proposed system will contain records related to FHFA employees and contractor personnel who provide emergency contact information, including personal phone numbers, home and email addresses, and names and contact information of emergency points of contact. This proposed system of records will replace the system of records issued by FHFA's predecessor agency OFHEO. The replaced OFHEO system, "OFHEO-6 Emergency Contingency Plan and Personnel Locator System" was published at 71 FR 6085 (February 6, 2006).

The second proposed system is "Payroll, Retirement, Time and Attendance, and Leave Records" (FHFA-15). The proposed system will contain records of individual's name; home address; telephone numbers; Social Security number; organization code; pay rate; salary; grade; length of service; pay and leave records; source documents for posting time and leave attendance; and deductions for Medicare; Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (also known as Social Security); bonds; Federal Employee Group Life Insurance; union dues; taxes; allotments; retirement; charities; Federal Government and commercial health benefits; Flexible Spending Account; Long Term Care Insurance; Thrift Savings Plan contributions; 401k plan contributions; awards; shift schedules; pay differential; tax lien data; wage garnishments; and any other information pertaining to payroll, retirement, time and attendance, and leave. This proposed system of records will replace the systems of records issued by FHFA's predecessor agencies, FHFB and OFHEO. The replaced FHFB system "FHFB-1 Employee Attendance Records" was published at 60 FR 46120 (September 5, 1995), as amended at 62 FR 66865 (December 22, 1997), and at 71 FR 61052 (October 17, 2006), and the OFHEO system, "OFHEO-2 Pay and Leave System," was published at 63 FR 9007 (February 23, 1998).

The third proposed system is "Personnel Investigative Records" (FHFA-16). The proposed system will contain individual's name; date of birth; current and former home addresses; work histories; education and financial information; Social Security number; information about family members; information about references; types and dates of investigations; investigative reports; dates, levels and types of clearances; and other information pertinent to granting or denying a security clearance or making a suitability determination. This proposed system of records will replace the system of records issued by FHFA's predecessor agency FHFB. The replaced FHFB system, "FHFB-5 Personnel Investigative Records," was originally published at 60 FR 46120 (September 5, 1995—originally published as "FHFB-7 Agency Personnel Investigative Records"), as amended at 62 FR 66865 (December 22, 1997), 68 FR 39947 (July 3, 2003), and 71 FR 61052 (October 17, 2006).

The three proposed new systems and the routine uses for each are set out in their entirety and described in detail below.

In addition to those disclosures generally permitted under 5 U.S.C. 552a(b) of the Privacy Act, all or a portion of the records or information contained in this system may be disclosed outside FHFA as a routine use as follows:

(1) When (a) it is suspected or confirmed that the security or confidentiality of information in the system of records has been compromised; (b) FHFA has determined that as a result of the suspected or confirmed compromise there is a risk of harm to economic or property interests, identity theft or fraud, or harm to the security or integrity of this system or other systems or programs (whether maintained by FHFA or another agency or entity) that rely upon the compromised information; and (c) the disclosure is made to such agencies, entities, and persons who are reasonably necessary to assist in connection with FHFA's efforts to respond to the suspected or confirmed compromise and prevent, minimize, or remedy such harm.

(2) Where there is an indication of a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, state, local, foreign or a financial regulatory organization charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(3) To any individual during the course of any inquiry or investigation conducted by FHFA, or in connection with civil or criminal litigation, if FHFA has reason to believe that the individual to whom the record is disclosed may have further information about the matters related therein, and those matters appeared to be relevant at the time to the subject matter of the inquiry.

(4) To any individual with whom FHFA contracts to reproduce, by typing, photocopy or other means, any record within this system for use by FHFA and its employees in connection with their official duties or to any individual who is utilized by FHFA to perform clerical or stenographic functions relating to the official business of FHFA.

(5) To members of advisory committees that are created by FHFA or by Congress to render advice and recommendations to FHFA or to Congress, to be used solely in connection with their official, designated functions.

(6) To a court, magistrate, or other administrative body in the course of presenting evidence, including disclosures to counsel or witnesses in the course of civil discovery, litigation, or settlement negotiations, or in connection with criminal proceedings, when FHFA is a party to the proceeding or has a significant interest in the proceeding, to the extent that the information is determined to be relevant and necessary.

(7) To the Department of Justice when (a) FHFA, or any component thereof; or (b) any employee of FHFA in his or her official capacity; or (c) any employee of the agency in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice or FHFA has agreed to represent the employee; or (d) the United States, where FHFA determines that litigation is likely to affect FHFA or any of its components, is a party to the litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and the use of such records by the Department of Justice or FHFA is deemed by FHFA to be relevant and necessary to the litigation provided, however, that in each case it has been determined that the disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(8) To a Member of Congress, to a Congressional staff member or to a Congressional Committee in response to an inquiry from the Member of Congress, the Congressional staff member or Congressional Committee made at the written request of the individual about whom the record is maintained.

(9) To contractor personnel, grantees, volunteers, interns, and others performing or working on a contract, service, grant, cooperative agreement, or project for FHFA.

(10) To appropriate federal agencies and other public authorities for use in records management inspections.

(11) To officials of a labor organization when relevant and necessary to their duties of exclusive representation concerning personnel policies, practices, and matters affecting working conditions.

(12) To the Office of Management and Budget and the General Accountability Office when relevant and necessary to carry out their responsibilities or to perform other functions within their jurisdiction.

(13) To the Office of the Inspector General for investigating allegations of abuse or misconduct, or to perform other functions within the jurisdiction of the Office of the Inspector General.

(14) To any Federal Government authority for the purpose of coordinating and reviewing agency continuity of operations plans or emergency contingency plans developed for responding to Department of Homeland Security threat alerts, weather related emergencies, or other critical situations.

DISCLOSURE TO CONSUMER REPORTING AGENCIES:

None.
