

NPRM proposed to change current regulations so that Burlington Northern Railroad, the owner of the Chambers Creek Bridge, would only have been required to raise the draw of the bridge between 3:30 p.m. and 7 a.m. everyday if at least two hours of notice is provided. At all other times the draw would have been required to be raised on signal.

Withdrawal

The NPRM is being withdrawn because of multiple objections to the change from users of the waterway in question and, in particular, the clients of the marina upstream of the Chambers Creek Bridge. The primary point of objection was that 3:30 p.m. was too early in the day, especially in summer boating season, to require a two-hour notice. This would pertain mostly to vessels returning to moorage at the end of a day of boating.

The Coast Guard received a total of 17 written responses. At least seven boaters suggested that a two-hour notice outside daylight hours would be feasible or a seasonal change outside the peak boating season. A dozen respondents pointed out that the draw records cited in the NPRM did not cover the peak summer months of boating. These records were no longer available from the bridge owner. Seven responses also noted that boaters often group together for a single draw opening thereby reducing the number of openings that otherwise would have been tallied for single-vessel passages. Additionally, several comments noted that tide elevations are a significant factor at Chambers Creek. Many lower tides stop boat traffic altogether and would fail to coincide favorably with the proposed hours.

No less than eleven responses cited numerous failures of the bridge owner to operate according to the existing regulations. The chief violations were reported as the absence of drawtenders and unreasonable delays to openings. At least two boat owners observed that cell phone coverage is not adequate for telephone contact by vessels returning to moorage from popular boating locations in Puget Sound that are two hours travel time from the marina. Several comments were concerned with delayed access of fireboats in the event of a marina fire.

These refunds are subject to the standards for this service, unless the delay was caused by one of the situations in DMM 114.2.1, Postage Not Refunded, or DMM 414.3.0, Postage Refunds. Next Day Delivery may not be available at all times of deposit or between all Post Office™ facilities.

Express Mail Second Day Delivery

Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement; Government-Assigned Serial Number Marking (DFARS Case 2008-D047)

AGENCY: Defense Acquisition Regulations System, Department of Defense (DoD).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:A. Background

DoD proposes to amend the DFARS 211.274 to require contractors to apply Government-assigned serial numbers, such as tail numbers/hull numbers and equipment registration, in human-readable format on major end items, when required by law, regulation, or military operational necessity. The rule establishes a standard DoD method of specifying Government-assigned serial numbers contractually, and requires the contractor to associate these serial numbers with the Unique Item Identifier (UII) assigned by the contractor and to register them in the DoD Item Unique Identification (IUID) Registry along with the UII. The rule also requires agreement between the Government and contractor prior to use of the serial numbers in constructing the end item UII.

Application of these Government serial numbers is a standard practice because crew members and maintenance technicians have to distinguish visually individual end items during operations. The serial numbers are applied at minimal cost typically by painting them on an exterior surface with a stencil resulting in a human-readable format. The rule eliminates any ambiguity between the UII and the use of the Government-assigned serial number.

The rule also proposes a new clause, Use of Government-Assigned Serial Numbers, in solicitations and contracts that contain the clause at 252.211-7003, Item Identification and Valuation, and that require the contractor to mark major end items under the terms and conditions of the contract. The Government-assigned method of serialization outlined in this proposed rule allows the Government to use its internal serialization as a data key to existing DoD property management, logistics, and maintenance systems.

This regulatory action was subject to review under section 6(b) of Executive Order 12866, Regulatory Planning and Review, dated September 30, 1993.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

DoD has prepared an initial regulatory flexibility analysis consistent with 5 U.S.C. 603. A copy of the analysis may be obtained from the point of contact specified herein. The analysis is summarized as follows:

This proposed rule is not expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq., because any start-up costs that contractors will incur to comply with the rule are expected to be minimal, and should be offset by the reduced administrative costs that are expected to result from implementation of this rule. The objective of the rule is to improve the accountability and control of DoD assets. The proposed clause at 252.211-70XX, Use of Government-Assigned Serial Numbers, requires the Contractor to mark the Government-assigned serial numbers on those major end items as specified by line item in the Schedule, in accordance with the technical instructions for the placement and method of application identified in the terms and conditions of the contract, and to register the Government-assigned serial number along with the major end item's UII at the time of delivery in accordance with the provisions of the clause at DFARS 252.211-7003(d). Since DoD requires that the use of Government-assigned serial numbers be limited to satisfy requirements of law or regulation, or to facilitate the identification of major end items consistent with military operational requirements, e.g., aircraft tail numbers or ship hull numbers in military operations, the number of small entities impacted by this rule is not expected to be substantial. At this time, DoD is unable to estimate the number of small entities to which this rule will apply. Therefore, DoD invites comments from small business and other interested parties on the expected impact of this rule on small entities.

DoD will also consider comments from small entities concerning the existing regulations in subparts affected by this rule in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 610. Interested parties must submit such comments separately and should cite 5 U.S.C. 610 (DFARS Case 2008-D047) in correspondence.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act (Pub. L. 96-511) does not apply because the rule does not impose additional information collection requirements that
