Additional Information: The Department expects to receive a large number of applications, and wishes to ensure that the funded applications are of the highest quality, and plans to use a two-phase application process (with a Pre-Application and Full Application). This two-phase application process will put less burden on the majority of applicants by requiring only a short concept paper from them, and will also have the benefit of providing helpful comments from peer reviewers to strengthen proposals from applicants invited to submit Full Applications. It would be difficult without emergency paperwork clearance for the Department to award these grants by December 2002. Based upon the unexpected delay and the public harm that might otherwise occur with delaying grant awards, the Department is requesting approval by May 7, 2002.

Abstract: IPEDS is a system of surveys designed to collect basic data from postsecondary institutions in the United States. To date, the main focus of IPEDS has been Title IV institutions, but institutions that do not participate in these federal student financial aid programs are becoming an increasingly important source of educational opportunity in the country. However, the scope and nature of this group of non-Title IV institutions is not well known. In order to arrive at a statistical estimate of the number of non-Title IV institutions nationwide, IPEDS proposes to conduct an area search to identify these institutions, and to collect a Minimum Data Set of items from them. These data will be made publicly available through a prototype Web-based data access system.
