Abstract: Under the Aviation and Transportation Security Act (ATSA) and delegated authority from the Secretary of Homeland Security, TSA is tasked with developing policies, strategies and plans for dealing with transportation security. TSA carries out this responsibility in the pipeline mode by assessing current industry security practices by way of its Pipeline Corporate Security Review (PCSR) program. The information will be collected during a voluntary, face-to-face visit with the pipeline operator, during which TSA will discuss the operator's security plan and also complete the PCSR Form. The PCSR Form asks approximately 218 questions concerning the operator's security planning and program, covering security topics such as threat assessments, criticality, vulnerability, credentialing, training, physical security countermeasures, and exercises and drills. TSA will use the information collected during the PCSR process to determine baseline security standards and areas of security weakness in the pipeline mode.

Estimated Annual Burden Hours: An estimated 100 hours annually, based on TSA conducting 12 PCSR visits a year, each lasting 8 hours.
