SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Department of Labor, as part of the continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent (i.e., employer) burden, conducts a preclearance consultation program to provide the public with an opportunity to comment on proposed and continuing information collection requirements in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A)). This program ensures that information is in the desired format, reporting burden (time and costs) is minimal, the collection instruments are clearly understood, and OSHA's estimate of the information collection burden is accurate. The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSH Act) (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.) authorizes information collection by employers as necessary or appropriate for enforcement of the OSH Act or for developing information regarding the causes and prevention of occupational injuries, illnesses, and accidents (29 U.S.C. 657). The OSH Act also requires that OSHA obtain such information with minimum burden upon employers, especially those operating small businesses, and to reduce to the maximum extent feasible unnecessary duplication of effort in obtaining information (29 U.S.C. 657).

The Anhydrous Ammonia Storage and Handling Standard (29 CFR 1910.111) specifies a number of paperwork requirements. The following is a brief description of the collection of information requirements contained in the standard.

Paragraph (b)(3) of the Standard specifies that systems have nameplates if required, and that these nameplates “be permanently attached to the system (as specified by paragraph (b)(3)(ii)(j)) so as to be readily accessible for inspection. . . .” In addition, this paragraph requires that markings on containers and systems covered by paragraphs (c) (“Systems utilizing stationary, non-refrigerated storage containers”), (f) (“Tank motor vehicles for the transportation of ammonia”), (g)

(“Systems mounted on farm vehicles other than for the application of ammonia”), and (h) (“Systems mounted on farm vehicles for the application of ammonia”) provide information regarding nine specific characteristics of the containers and systems. Similarly, paragraph (b)(4) of the Standard specifies that refrigerated containers be marked with a nameplate on the outer covering in an accessible place that provides information regarding eight specific characteristics of the container.

The required markings ensure that employers use only properly designed and tested containers and systems to store anhydrous ammonia, thereby preventing accidental release of, and exposure of workers to, this highly toxic and corrosive substance.

II. Special Issues for Comment

OSHA has a particular interest in comments on the following issues:

- Whether the proposed information collection requirements are necessary for the proper performance of the agency's functions to protect workers, including whether the information is useful;
- The accuracy of OSHA's estimate of the burden (time and costs) of the information collection requirements, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- The quality, utility, and clarity of the information collected; and
- Ways to minimize the burden on employers who must comply; for example, by using automated or other technological information collection, and transmission techniques.

III. Proposed Actions

OSHA is requesting that OMB approves the revision of the collection of information (paperwork) requirements contained in the Anhydrous Ammonia Storage and Handling Standard. There is a change of six burden hours (336 to 342) for documentation by a professional engineer for the safety of the equipment being used in this ICR request.

AGENCY: Office of Management and Budget.

ACTION: Notice of public comment period.

SUMMARY: The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is seeking public comment on a proposed memorandum titled, Modernizing the Federal Risk Authorization Management Program (FedRAMP).

DATES: The public comment period begins on October 27, 2023, and ends November 27, 2023.

Carol Bales, OMB, at 202.395.9915 or cbales@omb.eop.gov or Eric Mill, at 202.881.7182 or Eric.R.Mill@omb.eop.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) proposes to issue updated guidance to Federal agencies on the Federal Risk Authorization Management Program (FedRAMP). In December 2011, OMB issued Security Authorization of Information Systems in Cloud Computing Environments, establishing the Federal Risk Authorization Management Program to accelerate the secure adoption of cloud services. In 2022, recognizing the value that FedRAMP has provided to Federal agencies and to industry, Congress established FedRAMP in statute through the FedRAMP Authorization Act ("the Act"), 44 U.S.C. 3607–3616, as a program of the General Services Administration (GSA) that is overseen by a Board consisting of technology leaders drawn from Federal agencies.

The Act further provides for OMB to issue guidance to define the categories of cloud products and services within the scope of the FedRAMP program and to describe additional responsibilities of the FedRAMP Program Management Office (PMO) and Board beyond those assigned by the Act. OMB also has a general responsibility under the Act to oversee the effectiveness of FedRAMP and to encourage consistency in agencies' adoption and use of secure cloud services.

The proposed memorandum would support the Biden-Harris Administration's goals for modernizing Federal information technology and has been prepared by the Office of Management and Budget in consultation with key stakeholders.

Clare Martorana,

Federal Chief Information Officer, Office of the Federal Chief Information Officer, Office of Management Budget.
