Employment and Training Administration

Notice of a Change in Status of an Extended Benefit (EB) Period for Texas

AGENCY: Employment and Training Administration, Labor.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice announces a change in benefit period eligibility under the EB program for Texas.

The following change has occurred since the publication of the last notice regarding Texas' EB status:

- Texas has modified its law by adding a total unemployment rate (TUR) trigger retroactive to February 1, 2009. As a result, Texas has retroactively triggered "on" to an extended benefit period for weeks of unemployment beginning May 3, 2009. Eligible claimants will be able to collect up to an additional 13 weeks of Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Information for Claimants

The duration of benefits payable in the EB program, and the terms and conditions on which they are payable, are governed by the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970, as amended, and the operating instructions issued to the states by the U.S. Department of Labor. In the case of a state beginning an EB period, the State Workforce Agency will furnish a written notice of potential entitlement to each individual who has exhausted all rights to regular benefits and is potentially eligible for EB (20 CFR 615.13(c)(1)). Persons who believe they may be entitled to EB or who wish to inquire about their rights under the program should contact their State Workforce Agency.
